

Tudor/English Revival

The first Tudor Revival buildings in the United States were built in the late 1890s. In Los Angeles, the first Tudor style buildings were built in the early 1900s, and the style was popular through the 1920s.

The Tudor style is another architectural style that grew out of the 19th century movement away from the “modern” industrial revolution and towards a more “romantic” historicism. The style is based on late Medieval English cottage styles. The English Revival Cottage is a smaller version of the Tudor with brick walls instead of stucco and less half-timbering.

Tudor style structures are typically two or three stories, with a steeply pitched hipped roof with side gables, stucco, half-timbered, tall, narrow, diamond-paned windows, and a massive chimney. The English Cottage is usually one to two stories, steeply-pitched hip roof, brick with some half-timbering, and diamond-paned windows. Both can be found in low scale commercial buildings.

The Tudor and English Revival styles features can be found mixed with Shingle, Queen Anne Revival, and Stick and Eastlake styles.

Notes on styles section:

This text may be customized to include information related to this architectural style that is unique to your HPOZ. Although you may use an alternate approach, you may wish to review the recommended five paragraph approach towards writing this section as outlined below:

- The first paragraph contains an overview of the period of development of the style. You might want to include information about the dates such styles were popular regionally and more specifically within your HPOZ.
- The second paragraph contains background information about the style's development. It may include a description of the origin of the style and its relationship to other contemporary movements.
- The third paragraph includes information on the identifying hallmarks of the style. This is where you describe the main components of this style that differentiate it from others.
- You may wish to add a fourth paragraph to detail more specific examples of this style within your HPOZ, including a discussion of any prominent local architects who worked in this style. Other related information regarding your local HPOZ could be added. This paragraph will most likely be unique to your HPOZ only.
- The last paragraph discusses the styles with which this style is commonly found mixed. It is important to illustrate how styles are not necessarily exclusive of each other, and that elements of many different different styles may be found a single structure.
